

A NAVAL RESERVE NEEDED.

General Mabry's Plan to Convert the Volunteer Guard into One.

HE BELIEVES THERE WILL BE WAR.

He Then Substantiated the Statement that Correspondence Has Passed with Authorities.

Galveston, Texas, April 2.—Adjutant General W. H. Mabry of the Texas Volunteer Guard is in Galveston. He arrived here this morning and his visit is of the highest importance. The general went at once to the Tremont Hotel and sent for the commanders of the local companies. After stating that the purpose of his visit was to take steps toward drilling the local guard in naval tactics, General Mabry said:

"Texas, as you know, has no naval militia. The law here does not contemplate such an organization. The full militia strength of 30,000 men has been enlisted and under existing laws this number can not be increased. Since there is a call for naval militia, I am seeing what can be done with our regular troops in this line, with a view to having them receive instructions in this line should a home emergency arise. Proper orders will be issued just as soon as the best course is determined upon. I think it will be possible to detail companies of the National Guard as naval militia if it should become necessary to do so."

"The local companies are in good condition and could soon be made ready for active service. But even should war come, I see little hope of glory in it for the land forces. Spain is too far away to invade and arm the Cubans, who are acclimated to the conditions in Cuba, would be a better move than sending our own troops there. Of course our coast cities will have to be defended against possible attack, and the volunteer guard may be necessary to aid in manning the heavy coast defenses, but what Washington wants most now is a naval reserve, which Texas, under its present laws, has made no provision for."

General Mabry believes there will be war between Spain and the United States and has added significantly:

"I may also say that considerable correspondence has passed between the war and navy departments of the United States and the government of Texas as to the condition of State troops and their availability as naval militia. Beyond this statement, it would be manifestly improper to go on."

General Mabry will go to Houston tomorrow and there confer with a naval officer about the mobilization of the Texas Volunteer Guard into a naval reserve.

NAVAL RESERVE MEETING.

A movement to organize a naval reserve was started on foot here today. Mr. J. H. Hawley has consented to take the initiative in this matter and has issued the following:

To Whom It May Concern.

A meeting will be held tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Wood building, now used as a naval rendezvous, for the purpose of preliminary organization of a naval reserve. All interested in such a move are urgently requested to attend and discuss the situation and advisability of such permanent organization as may be possible under the law.

There is no law in Texas under which an armed naval militia or home guard could be organized. The Texas legislatures have ignored this branch of the service in all provision it has made for the Volunteer Guard. But the prospect of war with Spain is such that a move to form an association or home guard was deemed advisable.

Chief Engineer Webster said he did not think there would be any objection to the use of the Wood building and warmly commended the movement.

Should it be found necessary to defend the port from an attack from a Spanish man-of-war, such a reserve could do reconnoitering service. There are a number of small craft in the harbor which on a pinch might be converted into torpedo boats which would give a good account of themselves in case of trouble.

DUBLIN DOTS.

Good Demand for Cattle—New Postmaster Installed.

Dublin, Texas, April 2.—The cattlemen are abroad in the land; R. B. Moore and Higginbotham Bros. have sold several lots of good price. The great demand is for beefers and cows. It is feared that the number of calves next year will be very materially diminished.

Merchandise business as medium, compared with former years, credit business very materially lessened. Cash, however, more plentiful than in many years.

The spirit of improvement is abroad, new citizens painting, papering and adding to beauty and comfort of their homes.

The oil mill will shut down about April 1, having had a very profitable season. The compress here handled about 65,000 barrels of cotton during the season.

Eleven thousand hales were sold from wagons.

Dr. A. Caswell Ellis of the State university delivered a highly interesting and instructive lecture here on the night of the 25th.

Colored Teachers' Meeting.

Bryan, Texas, April 1.—To the Officers and Members of the Colored Teachers' Central Texas Association: Rates to our meeting at Marlin, April 15 and 16, are on the certificate plan. Be sure to take certificate from agent and reduction will be made on return fare. Entertainment, banquet, etc., tendered free by teachers and citizens of Marlin. Come on first day. Programme will be carried out in full.

Mr. Marry's New Position.

Terrell, Texas, April 1.—Prof. S. M. N. Marry, for five years superintendent of the public schools, left yesterday for Austin, where he accepts a position in the department of the State superintendent. Mr. Marry is an exceptionally able teacher and superintendent and has built up the efficiency of the schools in a marvellous degree. He left yesterday evening after finishing his day's labor in the school here and this morning commenced his labors in Austin.

Peculiar Suit for Damages.

Fort Worth, Texas, April 2.—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown think they have been sufficiently damaged by the closing up of a folding bed at their boarding house to seek for $250 damages from their boarder, a housekeeper, Mrs. M. K. Higbee. The suit was filed in the district court yesterday.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

Chiefs Kept Busy Holding Conferences with Officials.

NEGOTIATING FOR SMALL VESSELS.

Urgent Need of Collies—Thirty of the Naval Cadets at Annapolis Assigned to Ships.

Washington, April 2.—Constant movement of the officials, numberless conferences and a large congressional contingent that was on hand made today a busy one at the navy department. Secretary Long and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt were kept busy in conference with the chiefs of bureaus and the senators and representatives. There were, however, no new or sensational developments in the situation. Secretary Long said there had been no orders as yet issued to the "flying squadron" now at Hampton Roads.

The department is taking active steps to secure a number of a smaller class of ships. The purchase of two—the Crocie, belonging to a line running out of New York, and the yacht Josephine—has been consummated, while orders have been telegraphed to agents of the government to purchase the following: The yacht Sovereign, belonging to a New Yorker, and the Leonard, the Saturn and the Irishway. The latter three are collies, and will be used if necessary to accompany the fleets and carry extra supplies of coal. The Saturn, which has been practically secured, is a 1,000-ton vessel, and will be delivered to its agents in New York early next week. The Crocie will be used as a hospital ship.

There will be urgent need of vessels of the collie class if the government fails to secure any foreign coaling stations. Official reports are being telegraphed to the department representatives at the points where the owners of these collies are to ascertain the vessels' carrying capacity and other details necessary for intelligent action on the subject.

It was reported at the navy department today that a determination had been reached whereby the State militia organizations of a number of States would man signal stations along the coast, by which means an arrival of foreign vessels might be promptly reported.

The naval organizations of some States have heretofore worked along this line, and this will be of material assistance to the government. The matter, however, said one official today, is in the hands of the chief of the collie class, as the plans have not been perfected.

Admiral Walker arrived in Washington at 10 o'clock this morning, and reported to the secretary of the navy. The admiral has been at the head of the commission investigating the route of the proposed Nicaraguan canal. His return renewed the comment as to his possible choice for taking supreme command of all the United States naval forces on the Atlantic. While he is on the retired list, he is none the less subject to duty in case of need, and there is reason to believe, aside from duty, the admiral would regard it a privilege to renew his active service.

Admiral Walker would not discuss what the commission had accomplished nor refer to his future plans in connection with the navy. It is understood that the canal commission agrees with former commissions in the conclusions that the Nicaraguan canal is a feasible project, the only question being as to the amount of the undertaking which cost.

The naval orders today were the longest the navy department has issued in many months, there being about forty-five distinct orders. Of these thirty were of naval cadets at Annapolis, who were assigned to various ships. The cadets are taken from the first class at the Academy, which graduates next Monday, although the term does not end until a rule, the time of graduation is three months later than this.
